

Why do we need to read?

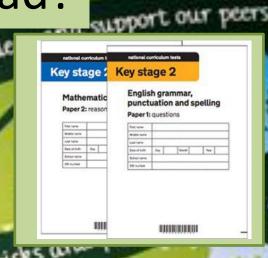

our learning at Senacre

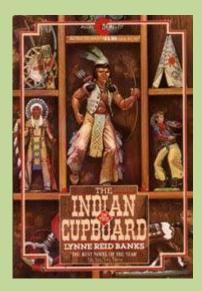

'There can be few things as powerful as regularly reading to a young child. It has astonishing benefits for children: comfort and reassurance, confidence and security, relaxation, happiness and fun. Giving a child time and full attention when reading them a story tells them they matter. It builds self-esteem, vocabulary, feeds imagination and even improves their sleeping patterns.' A few words on reading records

Read for pleasure

We think for ourselver

The books that you read to your child will look different to the ones that they can read themselves. This is a good thing!

The books that you read with them will fill their imaginations, improve their vocabulary and most importantly, bring them joy.

Supporting Readers at Home

Open University research suggests there are three important ways to support readers and a love of reading.

Reading aloud to your children shows them reading is a pleasure, not a chore. Older children can read to younger ones too.

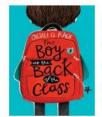

Making time to read alongside one another helps develop children's reading stamina and interest. Let them choose what to read and relax together.

Children who read, and are supported as readers, develop strong reading skills and do better at school.

Book Chats encourage readers. Invite them to make connections and share their views. Join in with your thoughts too!
